

“The Healthy Mind, Healthy Future symposium allowed me to realize that I live with fear... However, I will not allow it to hold me back. I want to learn and create the change that will help me, my family, and friends not to be scared anymore.” — Youth Leader

Uplifted groundbreaking research on how today's anti-immigrant climate impacts the mental health of California's children—90% of health providers reported an increase in anxiety and fear. We gathered over 150 educators, policymakers, youth, providers and advocates to discuss solutions.

Spoke on behalf of 4.5 million children in immigrant families alongside California's Governor and Attorney General as the state denounced the federal administration's changes to the public charge regulation—a cruel attempt to strip away public benefits from immigrant families.

Fought to protect health coverage and access for California's children and parents.

266,000 comments

Helped lead advocacy in the record-breaking 266,000 public comments against the public charge rule. As a result, Medicaid for children and pregnant women was unaffected.

100,000 infants & moms

Fought to connect nearly 100,000 children and pregnant women to Medi-Cal via WIC, seeking to advance the express lane eligibility strategy to reduce barriers to accessing health coverage.

1,000 families

Reached nearly 1,000 families directly with health coverage information, resources, and updates to maximize enrollment and make sure kids get the care they need.

Released a report on early childhood development to support California's 1.3 million children in immigrant families under age five. Recommendations focus on strengthening family supports and the early childhood workforce in alignment with the State's early childhood agenda.
